Glorietta I. A park square it was in which George sat him down. Alas, on his brow moved an uneasy frown, For the bench he had cumbered the maid passed demurely As swiftly as sunshine, and vanished as surely. There stole from her eyes just a gleam of arch laughter; And he blushed to his roots as he thought of it after. What could have been wrong? Had his face been remiss Betraying his start at a vision like this? Still chafing, he lost her the lane down, for fair - When her bloodcurdling scream rent the radiant air. And he sprang to his feet, and he raced to her aid Where he saw the maid struggling within the dark shade Of a cloistered, grey convent, in the arms of a man Whose eyes roamed as wild as a Mexican s can. His peaked, black sombrero had rolled in the dust Where the girl wrestled madly in fright, as she must Would she save her fair face from the ravishing kiss...
