The Weed that Strings the Hangman's Bag: A Flavia de Luce Novel

By Bradley, Alan.

Bantam. 1 Paperback(s), 2011. soft. Book Condition: New. This sequel to Alan Bradley's Agatha, Barry, Ellis, Macavity, and CWA Dagger Awardwinning debut mystery The Sweetness at the Bottom of the Pie sees the return of Flavia de Luce, a dangerously smart 11-year-old with a passion for chemistry and a genius for solving murders. The young amateur sleuth thinks that her days of crime solving in the bucolic English hamlet of Bishop's Lacey are over until beloved puppeteer Rupert Porson has his own strings sizzled in an unfortunate rendezvous with electricity. But who'd do such a thing, and why? Does the madwoman who lives in Gibbet Wood know more than she's letting on? What about Porson's charming but erratic assistant? All clues point toward a suspicious death years earlier and a case the local constables can't solve at least, not without Flavia's help. This installment of Bradley's hugely popular British cozy series is characteristically full of quirky characters and snappy dialogue. "Flavia, the precocious, imaginative, and adorable 11-year-old sleuth, returns for her second adventure. It's a mystery in itself how a mature male author can pen the adventures of such a young female child and keep readers believing in the fantasy. Flavia's world is..."

The ideal ebook i possibly study. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
