The quantity of rain that falls annually in any one place varies greatly from year to year; the extreme being sometimes greater than 2 to 1. As a general rule, more rain falls in warm than in cold countries, and more in elevated regions than in low ones. Local peculiarities and conditions, however, sometimes reverse this, and also cause great difference in the amount in places quite near each other. It is sometimes difficult to account for these variations. The earliest known records of rainfall were made in Paris in 1668. Sir Christopher Wren designed the first rain gauge in 1663.
