The cottage consisted of a space 20x14 x 8, with a partition through the centre. The outer part was used as a washroom, and the inner was furnished with two single cots, two chairs, an office desk, and a clock on the wall. The cots were equipped with feather mat tresses, pillows and comforters. The mattresses were covered with white sheets, and the pillows and comforters with ? owered cambric and checked gingham, fastened with hooks-and-eyes at one end. Everything was scrupulously clean. The walls were decorated with yellow paint to a wainscoting height, and the remainder white. On the desk was a coal oil lamp, placed on a conventional design doily; also a pitcher of drinking water and a glass. A basin of hot water, towels and soap were then placed in readiness for us to remove the travel stains of our journey. Then the question of dinner arose. Would...
