A Note on the Presence of B. Botulinus Type an in the Excretions of Poliomyelitis Patients (Classic Reprint) (Paperback)

By Robert Graham

Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from A Note on the Presence of B. Botulinus Type an in the Excretions of Poliomyelitis Patients The possibility of B. Botulinus as a saprophytic contaminant of the alimentary tract of healthy children as well as the possibility of this microorganism being present in the normal genito-urinary tract is not disregarded in the preliminary investigations. Furthermore, the method employed in collecting specimens may not have sufficed to eliminate extraneous contamination. In any event, it seems a note worthy fact that B. Botulinus should be encountered in excretions from the human body, and even tho upon further study it should be established that this microorganism bears no relation to the neuro tropic virus of poliomyelitis or an analogous symptom complex in children, the widespread character of B. Botulinus in nature will be more fully understood. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
