Excerpt from Marketing Activities, Vol. 14: March-April, 1951 Another action aimed at assuring adequate production was taken by the Secretary on February 2, 1951, when he announced national acreage and production guides for 10 important Spring - planted crops, including corn, oats, barley, and grain sorghums. The acreages suggested for the feed grain crops represent a small decrease in total acreage from. Last year for the four grains as a group. Production this year, however, if farmers follow 1951 announced acreage guides and if assumed average yields are obtained, would be somewhat larger than in 1950.
