Excerpt: . . . CHAPTER VIII. ROME. 1847 The following Reliques are taken from Mahonys letters from Rome contributed to the Daily News during the first two years of its existence. On closing his correspondence Mahony wrote to Dickens: -- And now, dear Dickens, fare thee well. I have now, during two successive winters, kept you au courant of Roman events: a period which will be ever memorable in the annals of Italy and Europe--comprising the fag end of an exploded system and the first acts of the man sent from God, whose name was John. But before I conclude, permit me, Carlo mio, to remind you of those lines I sent you ten years ago, and to congratulate you on all you have written since then for the improvement of mankind. During the two years of Mahonys correspondence, which were the opening ones of the present Popes reign, the latter was an anti-Austrian and an Italian patriot to his hearts core; and the Correspondent sympathised thoroughly with the popular enthusiasm in his favour. The murder, however, by the Roman mob, of the minister, Count Rossi, who was a sincere friend of popular progress; his Holinesss own flight to Gaeta; the regime of the revolutionary triumvirate, and the French occupation, changed the spirit of his dream. CHAPTER VIII. ROME. 1847. January 2. I See advertised in the usual form, and noticed by the Spectator, a book entitled Christmas in Rome, by some reverend American stranger, whose views of...
