Excerpt from Practical Handbook on Dermatology: Containing a Treatise on Diseases of the Skin, Scalp and Hair The large and continuous membrane, called the cutis, or skin, which covers and protects the internal parts of the animal organism, is one of the most interesting organs of the body. W The first changes in the general health, the mental impressions, the feelings of satisfaction or of shame, of love or anger, are manifested in the face by a difference of color, which is produced either by a contraction or a dilatation of the cutaneous blood vessels. Many internal dis eases can be promptly recognized by the eye of the skillful physician from the color and altera tions of the skin. The skin is a complex system of many organs, performing the most interesting functions absorption, transpiration, perspiration, and the delicate sense of touch. With its freshness of color, its smoothness of surface, its appendagesthe hair and the nails, it produces the regular appearance of the body and of the physiognomy, makes the ideal, the aesthetic character; in a word, produces beauty. It therefore merits...
