Financial System managed by the Department of the Interiors National Business Center - an option the Trust considered to be more cost-effective 5 than developing a system in-house. Beginning with fiscal year 2004, the Trust maintains its financial information on that system. Shortly after the federal government assumed ownership of the Caldera, Infrastructure Surveyed and the Trust learned that the existing infrastructure - roads, buildings, fences, Potential Solutions to and water treatment facilities - was seriously degraded and would have to Problems Identified be rehabilitated before it could provide public access to the Caldera. The Trust began the rehabilitation work in 2002. Roads. The Caldera has an estimated 1, 200 miles of roads, including 200 miles for the main access roads. Most of these roads had been constructed with little planning or engineering and had been used to support logging operations. They could not be readily used to support administration, ranching, recreation, and other needs. In 2002, 3. 5...
