Excerpt from Cornish Feasts and Folk-Lore: The Western hounds meet in all the villages situated at a convenient distance from their kennel, at ten o'clock on feaster Mondays, and, after a breakfast given by the squire of the parish to the huntsmen, start for their run from somewhere near the parish church (the church town). Three or four houses clustered together, and even sometimes a single house, is called in Cornwall a town, a farmyard is a town place, and London is often spoken of as Lunnon church town. The first of the West Penwith feasts is that of Paul, a parish close to Penzance, which has not the Apostle Paul but St. Pol-de-Lion for its patron saint. It falls on the nearest Sunday to 10th of October. An old proverb says, Rain for Paul, rain for all, therefore, should the day be wet, it is of course looked upon by the young people as a bad sign for their future merry-makings. An annual bowling-match was formerly held on feaster Monday, between Paul and Mousehole men (Mousehole is a fishing village in the...
