TELEREHABILITATION AS A CLINICAL TOOL FOR PHYSIOTHERAPISTS

Telerehabilitation as a clinical tool for Physiotherapists
From systems design to randomised controlled trial

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | From systems design to randomised controlled trial | High quality health services are often difficult to access in rural and remote areas. Telecommunications technology offers a potential medium to provide health services at a distance. This work provides evidence of the efficacy of telerehabilitation as a clinical tool for physiotherapists. This work outlines the development of a telemedicine system to meet the unique needs of clinical physiotherapists and their patients. A series...
