Excerpt from Annual Report of the School Committee of the Town of Williamsburg: For the Year Ending March 1, 1893 The School Committee ask your careful perusal of their report of schools for the year ending March 1st, 1893, and welcome all candid criticism of the same, believing that only when we reason together can the best results be produced for those in whose behalf we labor. We shall meet no objection to the statement that our public schools are, and should be, the nucleus around which our common thoughts and interests gather. And no true parent ignores the fact that school influence has a very great part in shaping the mind and character of our children, while every intelligent voter well understands that out from our public schools come the rulers of the land.
