The Space Race: How the Cold War Put Humans on the Moon (Hardback)

By Matthew Brenden Wood

Nomad Press, United States, 2018. Hardback. Condition: New. Samuel Carbaugh (illustrator). Language: English . Brand New Book. The recent political climate is driving talk of a new Cold War as well as a new space race back to the moon and even to Mars. The 50th anniversary of Apollo 11 is July 2019. Uses an inquiry-based approach to encourage readers to reach their own conclusions and opinions. Encourages students to research and explore elements of U.S. and world history through the lens of one of the greatest achievements of the twentieth century. Highlights the contributions of lesser-known figures in the space race. Social Studies classes for this age group discuss the Cold War and the ongoing relationship between the United States and Russia. Combines the study of STEM fields, including astronomy, geology, physics, and chemistry, with the study of history. Provides a number of exercises in STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art, and Math) that can either be done in a classroom or at home with little adult supervision. Incorporates a multi-disciplinary approach designed to engage students with various academic interests. Engages a variety of learning styles through illustrations and diagrams. Meets Earth and Space Science standards for NSTA's NGSS curriculum. Primary source links to real footage of the rocket race,...
