November, 1931One student spent his summer working towards his ph. d. At North western University. Two were doing graduate work in the Chicago Theological Seminary, which is allied with the University of Chi cago. Besides the academic knowledge, these students gained a knowledge at first hand of the radical View of religion, which will be most important to them as they take their place as ministers in a thinking and inquiring world. Two other students did graduate work at the University of Georgia in connection with their preaching work. About the PublisherForgotten Books
