Her dress, though coarse, soiled, and torn, was arranged with a delicacy of taste not often manifested by those so poorly clad; and from her face there beamed a light that irradiated with a golden sunshine the breast of every beholder. She nodded her head, smiled, and spoke to every passerby who looked towards her; and in this way she passed on, breathing around her an atmosphere of sweetness and purity. Some there were, however, in whose hardened hearts the soft radiance of her countenance kindled no gentle emotions; and, strange to say, one of this very sort was the first whom she accosted with a question. In her simplicity she had supposed that the well dressed people were all well educated, and therefore refined and good; and so, meeting a company of gay and elegant youths, she was tempted to stop and inquire of one of them the way to the Carolina Inn. I ll show it to you, and go with you to it, said the young man, winking at his companions. It s a large, fine house, and the landlord is a very great man. So saying, and followed by his tittering companions, he led her down one square, and then, turning to the right up a broad aiid beau ul street, he pointed out to her the house which she was seeking. By the way, what s your name? inquired the young stranger. Utopia, answered the...
