Excerpt from The Gentleman s Magazine, Vol. 262: January to June, 1887 T was about ten minutes past five o'clock on a lovely August evening when Mr. Edward Oldham, a young man of about twenty-three years of age, stepped out of the express train which had just arrived from London at the station in Margate. Having left a handsome travelling-bag, which was his only luggage, in the cloak room, he sauntered along the Crescent to the Royal York Hotel. It was the height of the season in Margate. The place was crowded, and there was not a bed to be had at the York or the White Hart, so he strolled up the hill towards the Cliftonville. As he was passing by Fort Crescent he saw, standing on the doorstep of a house some ten or fifteen yards before him, a tall slight girl, whose wavy golden hair, confined by a single ribbon, coated over her shoulders until it reached her waist. Reviews

Extensive information for book fans. It is written in basic words and never hard to understand. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

-- Otis Wisoky

This publication is great. It is full of wisdom and knowledge. You will not really feel monotony at any time of the time (that's what catalogs are for relating to when you ask me).
