Call this subregion the subregion of the null region associated with the vacuous region of the first species. 153. Symmetrical Matrices. (1) In general, if a- and y be any two elements and f any matrix, (x fy) is not equal to (y $x). In order to obtain the conditions which must hold for these expressions to be equal, let the matrix be a j ? a where, according to the notation 6i, 62, . 6r of 141 (4), a(, = o e1 + ae2 +. + avfe, . In other words the matrix is (a, aa, . a,). l -m - l Then, supposing that. e, are a set of normal elements at unit normal intensities cf. 109 (3) and 110 (1), (e fe.) = (e, a) = a (e e) = a, and (e. (be,) = (e, a) = a, (e e.) = a., . Hence, if the required condition holds, = a. (2) Thus the matrix with the desired property is a matrix symmetrical about its leading diagonal when the elements of the denominator form a Symmetrical matrices are considered by Grassmann cf. Aiudehnungslehre von 1862, 391; bat his use ol supplements implicitly implies a purely imaginary, self-normal quadric. Hence his conclusions are limited to those of subsection (7). normal system (at unit normal intensities) with respect to the quadric chosen as...
