Guilford Publications, United States, 1997. Paperback. Condition: New. Revised ed.. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Bridging the fields of culture and attachment, this book seeks to illuminate the relationship between the fields in two ways: It examines attachment from the perspective of culture, and then evaluates two different cultures Anglo and Puerto Rican from the vantage point of mother s perceptions of attachment behaviour. In doing so the volume aims to help interpret the results of cross-cultural attachment studies.; The authors use qualitative and quantitative methods to provide an in-depth view of desirable child behaviour and long-term socialization goals among Anglo and Puerto Rican mothers of infants and toddlers. The volume also explores cultural differences in the perception by these mothers of what constitutes a good child .; Drawing on research, the authors discuss the mental health meanings of certain behaviours in the context of larger environmental demands. This book examines the conditions under which Socio-Emotional Functioning In Infancy, As Indexed Quality Of attachment, can be said to predict the development of later social and Emotional Competence.
