Excerpt: . . . he would have us to keep them for his sake. Abraham and Solomon grew rich in religion. And Job says, that a good man shall lay up gold as dust. But he must not be such as the men before us, if they be as you have described them. Save-all. I think that we are all agreed in this matter, and therefore there needs no more words about it. Money-love. No, there needs no more words about this matter indeed: for he that believes neither Scripture nor reason (and you see we have both on our side), neither knows his own liberty, nor seeks his own safety. By-ends. My brethren, we are, as you see, going all on pilgrimage, and for our better diversion from things that are bad, give me leave to propound unto you this question: Suppose a man, a minister or a tradesman, and c. should have an advantage lie before him, to get the good blessings of this life, yet so as that he can by no means come by them, except in appearance, at least, he becomes extraordinary zealous in some points of religion that he meddled not with before; may he not use this means to attain his end, and yet be a right honest man Money-love. I see the bottom of your question; and with these gentlemens good leave, I will endeavour to shape you an answer: and first, to speak to your question as it concerns...
