DEVELOPMENT OF A POWER MANAGEMENT SYSTEM IN A PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM

Development of a Power Management System in a Public Address System

LAP Lambert Academic Publishing Jun 2017, 2017. Taschenbuch. Condition: Neu. Neuware - Electronic devices, circuits and systems are often over-weight and more difficult to house because they waste a lot of scarce electricity in their idling mode. Considering the global concern about energy conservation, it is worth redesigning these electronic devices to minimize their idling power in order to better channel the available energy into more productive use. Public address systems waste a significant amount of energy during silent intervals...
