Excerpt: .Several of his pupils painted exactly like him, save that they neglected to breathe into the nostrils of their work the breath of life. But Velasquez seems to have encouraged Murilloito follow the bent of his moody and melancholy genius--so Murillo was himself, not a diluted Velasquez. The strong, administrative ability of Velasquez was prized by the King as much as his ability as a painter, and he was, therefore, advanced to the position of Master of Ceremonies. In this work, with its constant demand of close attention to petty details, his latter days were consumed. He died, aged sixty-one, a victim to tasks that were not worth the doing, but which the foolish King considered as important as painting deathless pictures. So closely was the life of his wife blended with his own that in eight days after his passing she followed him across the Border, although the physicians declared that she had no disease. Husband and wife were buried in one grave in a church that a hundred years later was burned and never rebuilt. No stone marks their restingplace; and none is needed, for Velasquez lives in his work. The truth, splendor and beauty that he produced are on a hundred walls--the inspiration of men who do and dare--the priceless heritage of us who live today and of those who shall come after. COROT The sun sinks more and more behind the horizon. Bam! he throws his last ray, a streak...
