Interview with Maj Timothy Payment (Paperback)

By Dennis Van Wey

Bibliogov, United States, 2013. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Major Timothy Payment served initially as the Bravo Company, 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry Regiment commander - part of 2nd Brigade, 1st Armored Division - then took over Headquarters and Headquarters Company mid-tour during his May 2003 to July 2004 deployment in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. He arrived in Baghdad in the Green Zone then moved to Rasheed Air Base. He and his unit were responsible for creating neighborhood advisory councils (NACs), including recruiting and holding elections. There was some guidance on how to accomplish this from the Coalition Provisional Authority, but the guidance was sparse at first and slow to come after that. Development of the NACs was part of a larger reconstruction effort. As a company commander, Major Payment was responsible for a particular zone, and his zone's focus was water. There were three other zones, each responsible for electricity, sewage and gasoline/kerosene, respectively. The companies worked in conjunction with the NACs to alleviate these issues in the neighborhoods. The Iraqis serving on the NACs had the responsibility of seeking bids for projects and hiring local contractors. Projects were paid...
