By Unknown Author

Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Industrial Interests of California: Being a Series of Letters Relating to Our Home Manufactures, Industrial Labor, Agricultural Progress and Material Interests While the American culture annually advanced in amount equal to the calls of the new spindles, neither necessity nor desire existed to call forth steady effort to forward the Indian culture, which has only been called upon, spasmodically, as the American supply has been short. That no raw cotton has been shipped from China. Is owing entirely to absence of demand the course Of trade, so far from calling for raw cottons, has acted as a direct prohibition of its export. When the direct trade with China was Opened to Europeans, the export Of manufactured cottons was as profitable to the Chinese as some of their other products now are. China then produced all her own supply, and enough for all the demands for export, until the inventions of Arkwright and Whit ney enabled the Europeans to manufacture cottons cheaper than their hand labor would admit. At the same time, the growing demand for teas and other products afforded their...
