At the Renmin University of China. organize the preparation of graduate students had had a long teaching of motion. But then, the outstanding graduate curriculum standards. Basically, according to two types of programs not only academic (professional) settings. aperture narrow, with one or even two academic disciplines (professional) courses, the differences are great. Moreover, some of the courses, but also with the undergraduate level will not pull out the grade, teaching content to repeat. Therefore, the preparation of graduate students teaching the quality of graduate education is directly related to the basic work, but in certain disciplines or professional tried, did not put on the agenda of the whole school. 1996 held in April of the fourteenth meeting of the State Council Academic Degrees Committee is of graduate education is a major turning point. At that meeting, clearly stated that in order to improve the quality of center of the idea of ??graduate education, and, according to the century of the compound talents training needs, and adjust the post-graduate disciplines directory. Take this opportunity since 1997, we conducted a graduate course system large-scale reform: (1) appropriate to increase the teaching postgraduate training in the proportion of the process. (2) undergraduate, master's, doctoral training stage three curriculum as a system, take into consideration, pull-grade. Graduate training in accordance with curriculum objectives, to determine the teaching content. (3) the spirit of wide caliber, thick-based principle, to broaden the graduate's knowledge, in all disciplines within the set of all classes of professional core courses through the open - discipline-based courses. (4) uniform curriculum standards, establish a set of classes from the public, discipline-based courses....
