

Georges Geffroy (1905 - 1971): Une l

By Pierre Arizzoli-Clementel

Gourcuff Gradenigo. Hardcover. Condition: New. 240 pages. Dimensions: 11.3in. x 9.0in. x 0.9in. A monograph on a pivotal fifties interior designer, considered one of the most talented and inspired designers of his generation, whose work generated an unrivalled atmosphere in the grand classical style. This book reconstructs Georges Geffroy's interior design projects with the greatest possible accuracy. Generously illustrated throughout with many hitherto unseen images and supported by comprehensive appendices. A pivotal figure of 1950s Caf Society, Georges Geffroy was venerated in his lifetime as an oracle of grand classical interior design - but this was a classicism revisited, purified and stripped back to its quintessence, far removed from any notion of pastiche. Geffroy's loyal client list featured a who's who of the great names of the time, for whom he created interior designs of supreme refinement. He complemented his decorative schemes with objets and furniture from his favourite period, the late eighteenth century, selected with a famously unerring eye from the most distinguished antique dealers of the time, and draped them with silks chosen with his unique flair for colour. Every detail of his compositions spoke eloquently of his incessant quest for perfection. Declaring his unbounded admiration for the work of Christian...
