Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Economic and Sociologic Relations of the Canadian States and the United States, Prospectively Considered, Vol. 38: Address by Charles S. Hill, Vice President, Section I, Before the Section of Economic Science and Statistics, American Association for the Advancement of Science, at the Toronto Meeting, August, 1889 Our economic and sociologic relations are problematic, and an analysis of the prospective conditions thereof can but be of benefit and interest in anticipation of union or not, but the union of these two peoples in one government eventually is ascertain as the union of territory is now definite and unalterable. Two committees of the United States Congress are already in the field studying this problem from a political point of view, and that a lively and important discussion will take place at the coming session of Congress in Washington next winter is very certain. Grave and serious may be the immediate results of the coming consideration as an international question, in view of the remarkable existing and rapidly developing conditions that are assuming such complicated features, but the ultimate result will be annexation and consolidation. In view of the existing conditions on the one hand and the prospective conditions on the other, there seems to be no more pertinent and important an economic problem for consideration before this Section to-day. I shall not pretend to analyze each specific subject of these conditions in cause and result, but merely open a discussion as to the economic measures and sociologic benefits to be attained in the future; nor shall I burden you with statistical data more than in a few tabulations, for such arc familiar to you all. The many...
