Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | This manuscript is the product of several years of research in Adaptive Distributed Systems. It is inspired by an inner desire to face the challenges that result from the inherent mobile, decentralised and heterogeneous nature of Mobile Ad-hoc NETWORKS (MANETS) in which direct links are hard to establish and maintain as opposed to wired networks. This began at Lancaster University (UK) in partnership with the University's Next Generation Middleware Group. During this time grant funded European Union (EU) projects were carried out in close collaboration with academic and industrial partners like University College London (UCL), University of Lisbon, French Institute for Research in Computer Science and Automation (INRIA), Ericsson, France Telkom and Rolls Royce amongst others. This was followed by a focus on Applied Computing Technology at Lancaster University's InfoLab21 Student Academy (ISA). Current research is ongoing at United States International University-Africa (USIU-Africa) in Nairobi, Kenya. | Format: Paperback | Language/Sprache: english | 68 pp.
