THE DRONE THEORY Malaysian Airlines Flight MH370 A story built around the theory that the Malaysian airliners disappearance was because it had been turned into a drone by Al-Qaeda. A chilling fictional story of what could have happened to the airliner MH370 with a very exciting end game. A story involving Al Qaeda terrorists and their quest to upstage 911. The American Rafat Malek is born in Chicago, his father Abdul, a doctor, having emigrated there from Jammu Kashmir in India in 1968. The early part of the book explores the reasons and background leading to Rafats recruitment by Al Qaeda, using his aeronautical engineering qualifications gained at ITT to mastermind the conversion of a passenger airliner into a drone. We are introduced to the tragic history of the family in India during and after the partition, Rafats early experience of school life in Chicago, his marriage to Chione, a radical Islamist born in London UK, and their membership of a radical group at one of Chicagos mosques. The storys theory about the disappearance of the airliner MH370, gives a credible explanation as to why the plane was lost in the Indian Ocean and why little wreckage has ever been found. The shooting down of MH17 is also linked to the plot with a plausible theory as to how that happened. The CIA is actively involved in the story to try to stop the terrorists repeating the Kuala Lumpur tragedy, with one of their operatives Feriah becoming too involved with Rafat. Only time will give us the true answers to this tragedy. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
