No. 200 McCracken Form 4--This form is for use in solving the Astronomical Triangle in the case of Stars and Planets by the use of Aquino Tables, H. O. No. 200. It provides for getting the Compass Error, identifying the star or planet from its altitude and azimuth, and where more than one star is observed for getting the G.S.T. from the G.S.T. of the first star, by applying the difference of the watch times of the observations. Since this is a line of position observation the exact D.R. position is of little practical importance, so that the D.R. position of Sun R or Sun S according as it is a...
