The Royal Society of Canada announces its annual meeting in Montreal, May 27th, the session lasting one week. In the words of the preliminary circular, which has been mailed to us, it is anticipated that the meeting will be attended by many distinguished persons, eminent in literature and science, from Europe and the United States, as well as from the Dominion of Canada. The ordinary sessions of the society will be held in the buildings of the McGill University, and the popular evening lectures will be delivered in the Queens Hall on St. Catherine Street. The museums and art galleries, with the educational, industrial, and other institutions of the city will be opened to visiting members and associates. Local excursions to places of interest in the neighborhood will be arranged for, and receptions, garden parties, and entertainments of various kinds will also be provided. It is also proposed to keep a directory, wherein the names and addresses of all those attending the meeting will be registered, and thus members and associates will be enabled to communicate one with another without delay. The committee are engaged in the preparation of a hand-book, for gratuitous circulation among intending visitors, which will include an historical account of the society, together with other interesting scientific and local information, a copy of which will be sent on application. Sir Donald A. Smith is chairman, and J. A. Beaudry, C. E. , and W. J. Smyth, Ph. D. ,...
