OCLC Number: (OCoLC)37274377 Subject: Military education -- United States. Excerpt: . . . Chapter 1 Introduction increasing active Army and National Guard integration and training support by assigning active Army advisers to reserve units and implementing other initiatives. The Army began testing the Bold Shift strategy on the seven former roundout up brigades and other reserve units during fiscal year 1992. According to the Director of the Bold Shift task force, however, it may take 5 to 10 years before the impact of the strategy is clearly known. We reviewed the training results of the seven enhanced brigades that were Objectives, Scope, former roundout up brigades to determine whether (1) the Bold Shift and Methodology training strategy has enabled combat brigades to meet peacetime training goals, (2) the advisers assigned to the brigades were working effectively to improve training readiness, and (3) prospects of having the brigades ready for war within 90 days are likely. At the time we selected the seven brigades for review, they comprised all of the Armys roundout up brigades. Because of their higher priority for resources, these brigades should have been the best trained. Support units, such as artillery, military police, and engineering units, were not included in our work. Despite mobilization problems, many support units deployed on time and served effectively during the Gulf War. Our work at the seven brigades covered five of the seven primary Bold Shift initiatives. We obtained data on the brigades progress in meeting five key Bold Shift training goals in the areas of soldier, leader, and unit training and discussed the results with...
